ABSTRACT

A lifting device is provided. The lifting device includes a top part and a bottom part. A lifting linkage connects the top part to the bottom part and has at least two sub-linkages connected to one another via a central articulation. A drive unit is operable to adjust the height of the top part and act on the central articulation.